JARDIM DE KOTUKU

*Rua da Tronqueira
Faja Grande
Ilha das Flores*

For a number of years well-known German writer Rainer Würth came to this magical island in the middle of the Atlantic to write his novels. „Krötenwanderung“, „Wildwechsel“ or „Das tote Herz“ were mostly written on Flores.

Since 2016 Rainer Würth has been resident and lives and works in Faja Grande on the west coast of the island. There he bought a large piece of land, which rises behind the village – divided into terraces – like an ocean wave with stunning views over the Atlantic, the steep cliffs with their lush greenery and many waterfalls.

It's called the Jardim de Kotuku and in the coming years it will become a beautiful seaside garden. Rainer Würth's writing and living space is also home to creative workshops and cultural events and will become a meeting-point and refuge for artists and travellers on Europe's westmost island.

Meet Rainer Würth during an afternoon of Creative Writing in the Jardim de Kotuku or join one of his Hike & Write Tours and discover the beautiful nature around Faja Grande and your own literary creativity.
